Western Virginia Regional Jail's 2nd Academy of Correctional Officers Graduate February 12, 2009

February 11, 2009 (Roanoke County, VA) The Western Virginia Regional is proud to announce that its 2nd and final group of Correctional Officer Recruits will graduate from the Roanoke County Criminal Justice Academy on February 12, 2009 @ 2:00 PM. This event will take place at Cave Spring Baptist Church, 4873 Brambleton Ave, in Roanoke Virginia. These new Correctional Officers have completed eleven weeks of vigorous training in correctional law, firearms, defensive tactics, vehicle operations, and a number of other training programs surrounding the operation of a brand new state of the art correctional facility.

Upon their graduation, these recruits will begin an intensive internal training program to prepare them for the opening of the jail facility in March 2009. The training program consists of enhanced training on the jail's policies and procedures, operational procedures, as well as a detailed training regiment on the operation of the jail's security systems.

The Western Virginia Regional Jail encourages interested parties to visit the Western Virginia Regional Jail website at www.westernvaregionaljail.org, where pictures of the recruits' throughout their academy training have been posted. If you have any further questions please contact Deputy Superintendent Bobby D. Russell for any additional information.

The Western Virginia Regional Jail is a partnership of the counties of Franklin, Montgomery, Roanoke, and the City of Salem. More information and photos are available at <http://www.westernvaregionaljail.org>.
